THE RESET HOUSE

Regenerative leadership is a leadership style that aims to create sustainable, resilient, and thriving systems, both within organizations and in society at large.

It goes beyond sustainability by not only limiting damage, but actively contributing to the restoration and growth of people, communities and ecosystems

The Reset House guides companies on their path to sustainable sustainability by offering a unique leadership program based on the Inner Development Goals (UN): 'Being, Thinking, Connecting, Cooperating, Acting'.

The program includes methodologies such as TheoryU (MIT Scharmer) and Psychological Safety.
